- (a) to lay on the table;
- (b) to postpone indefinitely;
- (c) to refer or recommit;
- (d) to amend;

and said motions shall take precedence in the order named: the first two shall be decided without debate.

(3) After a motion has been formally stated by the presiding Officer, it shall become the property of Grand any vote shall be counted and recorded by the Grand Scribe E.; and provided also that, in addition to his own, the presiding Officer shall have a casting vote in the case of a tie.

Chapter and shall not be withdrawn without the consent of Grand Chapter.

(11) Except anyone who has voted with the majority, no Member shall be allowed to move for "Re-consideration" of any motion or resolution—in this respect, the term "Majority" shall apply to the vote on which the question was first decided.

(12) Members of Grand Chapter shall be amenable to the ruling of the presiding Officer on all points of order in debate and shall also be subject to his orders in any case of un-Masonic conduct: Provided that any Companion shall have the right of appeal to Grand Chapter.

(13) When a Member appeals from the decision of the presiding Officer, he shall state briefly the grounds for his appeal; the presiding Officer shall then explain the reasons for his decision and without further debate, shall put the question, "Shall the decision of chair be sustained?"; when the vote shall have been taken, the decision of Grand Chapter shall be announced.

37. Should the proposer of a motion of which notice shall have been given, be not in attendance at the Grand Convocation at which such motion is to be considered, Grand Chapter may:
